Special Issue: Biochemistry of Stem Cells

Guest Editors: I. Farrance and C. Civin

Preface

Biochemistry and signaling in stem cells, and vice versa

I. Farrance and C. Civin 2267

I. Cell signaling pathways active in stem cells

The TGF β superfamily in stem cell biology and early mammalian embryonic development

T.A. Beyer, M. Narimatsu, A. Weiss, L. David and J.L. Wrana 2268

TGF- β family signaling in stem cells

M. Sakaki-Yumoto, Y. Katsuno and R. Derynck 2280

On the role of Wnt/ β -catenin signaling in stem cells

S.J. Kühl and M. Kühl 2297

Sending the right signal: Notch and stem cells

C.N. Perdigoto and A.J. Bardin 2307

Stem cell regulation by the Hippo pathway

S.E. Hiemer and X. Varelas 2323

II. Regulation of stem cells by biochemical pathways

Role of key regulators of the cell cycle in maintenance of hematopoietic stem cells

A. Matsumoto and K.I. Nakayama 2335

DNA double-strand break response in stem cells:

Mechanisms to maintain genomic integrity

P. Nagaria, C. Robert and F.V. Rassool 2345

Like a rolling histone: Epigenetic regulation of neural stem cells and brain development by factors controlling histone acetylation and methylation

T. Lilja, N. Heldring and O. Hermanson 2354

Exploring metabolic pathways that contribute to the stem cell phenotype

N.M. Vacanti and C.M. Metallo 2361

III. Stem cells and signaling pathways in model systems

Hematopoietic stem cell development and regulatory signaling in zebrafish

C. Zhang, R. Patient and F. Liu 2370

Signal transduction pathways, intrinsic regulators, and the control of cell fate choice

N. Fossett 2375

IV. Function of pathways in embryonic, induced, somatic and cancer stem cells

Pivots of pluripotency: The roles of non-coding RNA in regulating embryonic and induced pluripotent stem cells

J.S. Huo and E.T. Zambidis 2385

The biochemistry of hematopoietic stem cell development

P. Kaimakis, M. Crisan and E. Dzierzak 2395
