

VOLUME 31 NUMBER 3 SEPTEMBER 2012

New Genetics and Society

Special Issue: Risky Profiles: Societal Dimensions of Forensic Uses of DNA Profiling Technologies

Guest Editors: Torsten Heinemann, Thomas Lemke and Barbara Prainsack

5

0

2

ROUTLEDGE

Routledge

Taylor & Francis Group

ISSN: 1463-6778

SPECIAL ISSUE: RISKY PROFILES: SOCIETAL DIMENSIONS OF FORENSIC USES OF DNA PROFILING TECHNOLOGIES

GUEST EDITORS: TORSTEN HEINEMANN, THOMAS LEMKE AND BARBARA PRAINSACK

CONTENTS

Editorial

Risky profiles: societal dimensions of forensic uses of DNA profiling technologies
Torsten Heinemann, Thomas Lemke and Barbara Prainsack 249

Articles

Opening the DNA black box: demythologizing forensic genetics
Antonio Amorim 259

Prisoners' views of CSI's portrayal of forensic identification technologies: a grounded assessment
Helena Machado 271

"A Faustian bargain?" Public voices on forensic DNA technologies and the National DNA Database
Dana Wilson-Kovacs, David Wyatt and Christine Hauskeller 285

Legal storytelling in pre-trial investigations: arguing for a wider perspective on forensic evidence
Corinna Kruse 299

Forensic DNA databases in England and the Netherlands: governance, structure and performance compared
Victor Toom 311