

4 | Conversation

BRIEFING

5 | Verbatim

6 | LightBox

Production ramps up at a hazmat-suit factory in China

8 | World

Ukrainian elections send an anti-Putin message; stress testing European banks

10 | Above & Beyond

A mother's tree-planting mission aims for a greener China while honoring her late son

14 | Autos

Cheap gas pressures electric-car prices

15 | Tech

A new wave of apps hope to help you manage your email

18 | Milestones

Farewell to Cream bassist Jack Bruce and Welcome Back, Kotter actor Marcia Strassman

COMMENTARY

19 | Viewpoint

David Rothkopf on how the U.S. and its allies can beat ISIS

ON THE COVER:

Photograph by Robert Maxwell for TIME

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Alison Lundergan Grimes takes a selfie with Bill Clinton after a rally in Paducah, Ky., on Oct. 21. Photograph by Win McNamee

FEATURES

20 Missing the Tipping Point

The World Health Organization's purpose is to prevent medical disasters, so how did Ebola catch it by surprise? by Vivienne Walt

26 Putin's Proxies?

The abduction and torture of a Chechen activist heightens fears that Kremlin agents are active in Europe by Simon Shuster

32 Life, the Universe and Everything

In Interstellar, director Christopher Nolan reinvents the Hollywood space odyssey with cutting-edge science by Jeffrey Kluger

Plus: A review of Interstellar by Richard Corliss

40 Up for Grabs

The Republicans' purple-state play for Senate control, and four more things to watch for in the U.S. midterm elections by Joe Klein

Eddie Redmayne

THE CULTURE

46 | Books

Anne Rice returns to vampires for her new novel, Prince Lestat

49 | Reviews

Jake Gyllenhaal in the newsy thriller Nightcrawler; the latest album from Scottish DJ-producer Calvin Harris

50 | Movies

Eddie Redmayne plays physicist Stephen Hawking in a new biopic

52 | 10 Questions

Fashion designer Diane von Furstenberg